(City Name) Workers and Community Members to Observe
Workers Memorial Day and *Safe Jobs for All

(Local factory workers, nurses, firefighters, city workers, telephone operators, and other local workers) will be joined by community members on (day of week and date) to honor workers who were killed, injured and became ill across (state name) last year. Millions of workers, including frontline and essential Teamster members, contracted Covid-19 at their workplaces, and some died from it. Under the banner of “Safe Jobs for All,” they will call for safer workplaces and an end to workplace deaths.

Hundreds of similar events worldwide are planned as part of Workers Memorial Day, which is held each year on April 28th. Every year, close to 5,000 people are killed at work, and 50,000 to 60,000 workers die from occupational diseases while millions more are injured.

(Speaker name and title) and (Speaker name and title) will point out that one of the best ways of honoring workers is by preventing other workers from being killed or injured on the job.
