

ATTENTION CWA-IBT AGENTS!

Sign the Petition Calling on American CEO Robert Isom to Protect Agents from On-the-Job Injuries Now!

Recently, American Airlines management implemented a requirement that passenger service agents close aircraft doors without assistance from cabin crew, a process that requires significant upper body strength and agility. This unilateral decision by management puts agents in serious danger of on-the-job injuries.

To: Robert Isom, CEO, American Airlines

We the members of the CWA-IBT Association call on American Airlines management to reverse its unilateral decision to require agents to close aircraft doors without assistance from cabin crew. We call on management to negotiate this and all policy changes that impact worker safety with our union representatives.

The Bargaining Teams will deliver the petition to management during bargaining in May. So sign by April 30th to stand with your coworkers for safety on the job.
