STORIES OF UNITY, POWER, AND STRENGTH

Stand with AMAZON TEAMSTERS

Amazon workers need your support to protect their union and win good jobs. Drivers and dispatchers in California joined the Teamsters in April and negotiated a first-of-its-kind contract at Amazon. These workers are demanding their rights and the respect they deserve.

We are standing with our new Teamster siblings. We all need to pitch in now to make sure they can support their families as they take on Amazon.

“ AS A FOURTH-GENERATION TEAMSTER, THE UNION HAS BEEN PART OF MY LIFE AS LONG AS I CAN REMEMBER. I've had Teamster health care my whole life and I still hold onto my CDL. Growing up, I was raised to believe that you never waver when it comes to fighting for the rights and welfare of your brothers and sisters. That's why this job means so much to me. I carry the legacy of those who came before me. Their fire and drive aren't just a part of me, it's what made me the man I am today.”

Sean M. O'BRIEN
TEAMSTERS GENERAL PRESIDENT

“AS PILOTS, WE ARE THE ACCEPTORS OF RISK AND THE PROTECTORS OF THE PEOPLE ON BOARD.”

Captain Patrick
HOLYFIELD

AIRLINE PILOT,
REPUBLIC AIRWAYS
LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY
TEAMSTERS LOCAL 357

INTRODUCTION

As the adage goes, the Teamsters represent every possible worker from A-Z — airline pilots to zookeepers. This is truer today than ever before. But more consequentially, the Teamsters Union represents an opportunity for all workers in all industries to protect, preserve, and improve their lives. Our members are the backbone of North America’s workforce, and you are always worth more.

So, let’s meet some Teamsters. Just some of the hardworking people who make up our incredibly powerful, diverse, historic, and ever-evolving labor union. Say hello to some of your brothers and sisters from coast-to-coast who offer humbling and inspiring observations on what it means to be a Teamster, what it feels like to work hard and sacrifice, and how crucial it is to know there’s someone forever in your corner fighting for you to win.

From transportation to delivery, from health care to manufacturing, from food processing to cannabis, from warehouses to runways, from UPS to union printers, from the American Red Cross to the San Diego Zoo — we are Teamsters. We provide dependable labor, we deliver essential services, and we deserve to be compensated and protected for all that we are and all that we do.

Beyond their occupations and local union numbers, in this issue you will discover the stories of fellow members who strive for fairness, respect, and better working conditions. Their backgrounds are different, but their drive is the same — shaped by an understanding that by standing together, we can realize a better standard of living for ourselves and our co-workers.

From veterans who have dedicated their lives to union membership to newly organized members who have just begun their Teamster journey, every story and every opinion is an important thread sustaining and expanding our labor movement. These portraits offer only a glimpse of your fellow members’ lives and their impact but let them serve nonetheless as long-lasting reminders of our shared strength as Teamsters.

After 17 years as a Teamster, four different airplanes, and 9,000 flight hours, Captain Patrick Holyfield is comfortable with the pressure that comes with shepherding travelers across the skies. “I thrive on it,” Holyfield said. “As pilots, we are the acceptors of risk and the protectors of the people on board.” The weight of that responsibility is a source of pride and something Holyfield takes seriously. In addition to his duties as an airline pilot with Republic Airways, Holyfield trains and evaluates other pilots, and he is a Flight Safety Representative for the Teamsters Airline Division. On the lighter side, when the weather gets gloomy in his hometown of Louisville, Kentucky, flying up above the clouds gives Holyfield a chance to see the sun. “The views are always great.”

PONCE

GSE LINE TECHNICIAN,

LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA
TEAMSTERS LOCAL 986

ONE OF THE BEST PIECES OF ADVICE DANIEL PONCE GOT FROM HIS MENTORS AT UNITED AIRLINES WAS THE OLD SAYING THAT IF YOU DO WHAT YOU LOVE, YOU'LL NEVER WORK A DAY IN YOUR LIFE. Ponce keeps that message in mind as he maintains the equipment that services planes at LAX. One of the proudest moments he's had on the job was when he stepped up to troubleshoot a super tug's electrical problem. It was a time-sensitive job that required the skills Ponce built in more than five years working at United and one that others were intimidated by. "It felt great being able to save the day and make a difference. Safety always comes first in this line of work."

In April, Demetria Forte was one of 84 brave drivers and dispatchers in Palmdale, Calif., to organize with Local 396, becoming the first group of Amazon workers to join the Teamsters. She and her co-workers quickly negotiated a historic contract that includes wage increases, health and safety standards, a grievance procedure, and other benefits. "I have six kids to support, so this new contract will make a big difference. But this is still an uphill battle. We have a lot of work ahead. I'm hopeful for a better future for every worker at Amazon. WHEN THEY TELL THE STORY OF HOW THE TEAMSTERS ORGANIZED AMAZON, WE WILL BE ABLE TO SAY, 'IT ALL STARTED WITH US!' NOW IT'S TIME FOR MORE FOLKS TO FOLLOW. ALL AMAZON WORKERS NEED A UNION."

“ THIS IS THE CENTER OF THE THEATER WORLD. EVERY SERIOUS ACTOR WANTS TO SAY THEY WORKED ON A BROADWAY STAGE, AND TOURISTS FLOCK HERE EVERY YEAR AND GENERATE A LOT OF MONEY FOR THE CITY. IT'S IMPORTANT WORK.”

We shut down on March 13, 2020, and we didn't come back for a long time because of the pandemic. We knew we were in good hands, though. The union made sure we were taken care of. A lot of film and TV productions were back by July or August and made a point to look after us. We weren't out of work for long, but we were eager to get back on Broadway.

This past season we just had was the busiest of my career. I think it's safe to say we're back.

We consider the 10-block stretch of Manhattan our office. Every day is different. It's not for everybody, but I think it's for me.”

“I used to play college football and ended up turning pro, but it was such a long, draining journey. I felt like, 'I know I can do this, but I have a little girl back home and I hated being that far from her. I had already been chasing the football dream for a while and figured it was time to find a career . . . BEING A CARHAULER IS VERY PHYSICAL AND TAKES A LOT OF FOCUS, AND MAKING THAT TRANSITION FROM SPORTS, I FELT LIKE THAT WAS A PIECE OF CAKE FOR ME. “ I REALLY LOVE WHAT I DO. IT’S A GREAT LINE OF WORK. IT’S FAST-PACED, IT’S REWARDING. IT’S TRULY DIFFERENT EVERY DAY. There are some consistencies, but we go without really knowing what we’re going to see. It’s all about being able to work quickly and adapt and take whatever gets thrown at you. It translates into a really incredible, resilient team of people.

“I feel fortunate to work with so many wonderful people. I really can’t say enough nice things about my co-workers. As for the job itself, there’s nothing like it – within the health care industry or anywhere. Everybody here works really hard. I got into it because I wanted to make a difference and help people. I’ve been doing it for almost five years now.

“We’re a big group with over 200 employees. It’s a strong workforce of people that deserves more recognition. Honestly, I think EMS has flown under the radar for a really long time. We’re always a little bit taken for granted. People don’t really think about us until they need us. We, of course, don’t do it for the recognition, but we deserve all the recognition and more for what we do.”

“ I WAS HERE WHEN MY CO-WORKERS AND I DECIDED TO ORGANIZE AND BECOME TEAMSTERS BACK IN 2008. It is amazing how fast the time goes. A lot of changes were taking place back then that we didn't approve of and that's why we decided to join the union. When we negotiated our first contract, the company knew I was heavily involved in the organizing efforts, so they tried to make it an uncomfortable situation. It didn't deter us, though. We stayed strong and knew it was the correct decision. I am fortunate to have great business agents who have supported us the entire time. They've been there for us since the first time I met with them in a Starbucks to discuss organizing. It's refreshing to know these folks and the organization have your back and are looking out for your best interests in the workplace.”

Fighting for Teamsters and Our Families

Corporate America has promoted its pro-Big Business, anti-worker agenda at the expense of working families. Teamster members fight corporate greed through strong, grassroots action and work to ensure that elected officials hear our concerns loud and clear.

You can take a stand for working families by contributing to DRIVE, the Teamsters' political action committee. DRIVE stands for Democratic, Republican, Independent, Voter Education. Your membership in DRIVE will help elect political candidates who will advocate and lead on issues important to Teamster members and our families.

In addition to DRIVE PAC, the Teamsters have established an additional Political Action Committee called TEAM Fund—the Teamsters Education And Mobilization Fund. TEAM Fund allows Teamster retirees, family members, non-active members, and our allies to participate and support the political objectives of the Teamsters Union, our members, and our families.
