

Last Friday, the National Negotiating Committee met virtually to review a full proposal from United Airlines. Since then, Teamsters and United representatives have continued working through the proposal. We are also working on next steps, including ballot materials for the vote.

The committee will soon meet with local union leadership to review the proposal and ensure it reflects the priorities members have raised through nearly two years of negotiations.

We know members are eager for an update, and we appreciate your patience throughout this process. We will share more information as soon as we can.
